BLACK SHEEP, HAVE YOU GOT ANY WOOL?

Say, OLD SUNFLOWER, what is that OLD MAN DOWN IN THE SWAMP trying to do with those Gailing guns?

Why, OLD PICKLES, he is loading them with MUSH But the charging them.
But the charge comes out at the WEONG END.
Yes, OLD PICKLES, the OLD MAN is so foolish he can't see that.

Why, sometime ago, he advertised that he had for his shop THE OLD HOUSE, not the HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT, but the house that the Duke of Edinburg slept in; and that he had some OLD CURIOS, an old carriage that the had some OLD CURIOS.

that Queen Anne or Queen Kalama rode in; and also that he had bought part of the OLD CHINESE THEATRE, and had procured lots of Chinamen's Tails to have on Yes, OLD PICKLES, that's so; but you see "that cream exhibition.

Yes, OLD PICKLES, that's so; but you see "that cream wouldn't churn," so he has got in a new role, after the government work.

He has been beating round the BUSH, but got nothing. Yes, OLD PICKLES, he has been at that for the last six years. But you see his game is up. The King has put the GOOD SHEPHERD to look out for his flocks, and he says the Government has been FLEZCED enough; it has no more fleeces to spare without equivalent given for them; but at the same time, he don't wish to be selfish in the matter; but has made ample provision for all that may come to him. He has got a fine lot of MORENO BAMS, (nothing to do with those ram-rods that I spoke of in the "Last Supper,") but the real article from Lanai and any one wishing can buy one of those Rams, and then can have a fleece of his own. If GO WEST buys one of those Hams and pastures him down in the Swamp, he will be likely to get the FOOT EOT and other diseases to which sheep are subject. For his benefit I would recommend a preparation made of one pound of SOFT SOAP, with an ounce of Carbolic Acid Crystals dissolved in water; this will destroy vermin itch, scurf and mange, The preparation as given above should be diluted with warm water before being applied to the animal, and it will not injure the hair. But these diseases seldom get among RAMs when they have rocky ranges for pastures where they have to climb to get their graze.

Say, OLD SUNFLOWER, I saw Mr. Paty riding in a beautiful Wagonnette last Friday. Well, sir, it is one of the most elegant carriages I ever saw. Where did Mr. Paty get that carriage from?

Now, look here, OLD PICKLES, you can't come any of your smart tricks on me; you know very well that all those nice jobs come from the "Government Factory," on King street; that is the BOSS STREET and the BOSS SHOP.

Say now, OLD SUNFLOWER, let's talk sense: Who

SHOP.

Say now, OLD SUNFLOWER, let's talk sense: Who have you got for your WOOD WORKMAN?

What, for my BODY BUILDER! I have got a little fellow from Louisville, Kentucky, who can discount anything that every came to these Islanda.

Now, OLD SUNFLOWER, what are you giving us?

Nothing but the truth.

What has become of that young man that made bodies for you before? That young man that uses Bear's Oil and Hartshorn? O, he has gone up town, to work for that man on For

Oh! yes; therslim man. I don't think he will ever be as fat as you are. OLD SUNFLOWER.

No. I think not; he has got a tape-worm. I never saw a man yet get fat that had one of them things.

Say, OLD SUN, I think that OLD MAN DOWN IN THE SWAMP can beat you on painting.

Yes? What makes you think so?

OLD SUN, he told me he had the best painter in the Kingdom.

ingdom. Did you believe him? I had no reason to disbelieve him Who did he tell you he had? He said he had T. H. HARRISON.

Yes! Did he tell you he had F. H. Harrioon? Weil, ow, just stop for one minute; Harrison has not been with Now, OLD SUN, none of your soft soap. Who is he o work for? Why, he is with me.

So you went for him and got him? touch a job of his. Well, OLD SUNFLOWER, what has become of the Green Harp " painter you had some time ago?

O, he has gone over to Frisco; gone to look for Dennis Dennis Kearny. What, the Irish Agitator?

What, the Irish Agitator?
Yes, that is the man.
Why, what in the world did he leave you for?
O! he did such awful painting for me, I had to let him go. Why, his painting was done so horribly it used to leare horses; so I thought the most quiet way was the best. Let him go West.
How is it about your Trimmer, OLD SUNFLOWER?
Who do you mean, STEIN?
That is the man; I thought go West got him Yes, he did, but he did not keep him. He agreed for one Hundded Bollars bonus, but he did not get it, and I got him back, YOU BET.
Then you have got all of those workmen?

got him back, YOU BET.

Then you have got all of these workmen?
YOU BET! This go West business I must explain to you, OLD PIUKLES. Some years ago there was another OLD CRANE that published a paper in New York aslied the New York Tribane. He need to give advice to all young men to "go West." Well, this Go West was living down in Nova Scotia, and it was with him as with an old family by the name of Ransom in New Jersey. The old man was well to do in this world's goods, but never went to church, whilst the old woman was somewhat inclaned to go to church. Some of their GALS were getting up in their teens, and the old woman thought they ought to go in some society, so she kept tessing the old claned to go to church. Some of their GALS were getting up in their teens, and the old woman thought they ought to go in some society, so she kept teasing the old man to go to church and let the GALS get in Society, that they were approaching womanhood, and if they did not get them in society they might die old maids. So she made an impression on the old man, and he consented to go, to gratify mamma's wishes; but still, at the same time, the old man was not very anxious about it. Finally they got started, but on the way the old man says, "Mother, I have not been in the church since we were married, so I think the old dominie will make some remarks about it." Says the old woman, "You talk like an old fool, the dominie may not know that we are in the church." "Well now, old woman, you have your way about it, but you see." So they got to church and the unsher seated them all right, and the two GALS; but tho dominie that married them over twenty years before, kept eyeing the old man, and the old man droping his head, finally the old dominie in the pulpit rose up, opened his hymn book and commenced to read, thusly, "Return ye Ransom, Sinner Home." The old man rose up and said, "By Jove, mother, what did I tell you about this." But the old woman insisted that he didn't mean them." "Ah," says the old man. "there are no other Hansoms in this house, you can't fool me on that, I can't houst that in." So home they went and haven't been to church since. This is a parallel case with that of Go West. That young man was a reader of the Tribune, and he saw the "go West" in it, so he got up and got, and is now in the Swamp.

Well, OLD SUN, that is quite a comparison, but he ow in the Swamp.

Well, OLD SUN, that is quite a comparison, but he Well, OLD SUN, that is quite a comparison, but no about that Old Junk Store?
Well, OLD PICKLES, I am worried with you, have you any objections to being called SUNFLOWER? Not at all, OLD PICKLES, on the contrary I think it is quite a compilment. Oscar Wilde, the scholar, poet and apostle of Estheticlam, has given to the Sunflower and the Lily the most prominent places in the Floral World; the Lily for its purity and delicacy, and Sunflower from its resembling to the Golden Orb of Day. It is immate rial to me whether I am dalled a Sunflower or a Rose.

"The Rose by any other name will smell as sweet," Well, just once more, OLD SUN, have you an URIOS?

Not many, OLD PICKLES. Give us a few, OLD SUN.

Give us a few, OLD SUN.

Well. I have a shee from the foot of Punchbowl, a tooth from the mouth of Pearl River, and a cap from Diamond Bead, that comprises my principal stock of CURIOS. How is that, OLD PICKLES?

Quite sufficient, OLD SUN.

Well. OLD PICKLES, I have a lot more, but it is getting late, and time is money. Still I ought to say something more about that Go West notice in the papers, and would do so, if it were not so soft and silly. I thought that Hocos-pocus-rhincus would have done better for the smount paid for it.

Now, just another question, OLD SUN, have, you any. amount paid for it.

Now, just another question, OLD SUN, have you anything to say for yourself?

Tes, OLD PICLES, I might say a great deal, but I don't want to hurt the feelings of the OLD MAN IN THE MARSH, so I will merely add that if you know any persons who want carriages or carts built or repaired, trimmed or painted, or who wants anything in the saddlery line, or who requires iron work or horse shoeing, send

The Twilight of the Year.

The yellow leaves are falling Upon the earth's brown breast, The lonely thrush is calling Near its old decaying nest The flowers now are dying. They droop low on their bed,

So scentless, sere, and dead. The birds have ceased their singing In willows near the rill; Their glad notes are not ringing

Where scattered blooms are lying

The beauties of the meadows With summer time has fled, And deepened are the shadows

By solemn autmn's tread. The hazy sun is beaming As it seeks the far off West; The day, so weary seeming, Sinks early now to rest. And with the waning daylight, Goes earth's most dreary smile. The year is in the twilight. The melancholy while. -J. W. Vallandingham.

TALMAGE ON NEWSPAPERS. The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, the great American preacher, recently addressed his congregation on the newspaper press and its value in humanizing and civilizing the people. His text was Ezra, 16th chapter and 12th verse- And the wheels were full of eyes'-and Acts 17 and 21- For the Athenians and strangers that were there spent their time in nothing else but to tell or hear some new things.' In alluding to the antiquity of the newspaper, he said the first to answer the cry 'Whit is the news?' were the Chinese, as over a thousand years ago, in Pekin, a journal was printed on silk. The first newspaper printed in Boston was in 1691 and in Philadelphia in 1784; the newspaper did not spring up suddenly but came gradually. The circular begot the pamphlet, the pamphlet the quarterly, the quarterly the monthly, the monthly the weekly, and the weekly the daily. But just as the newspaper began to demonstrate its power it was shackled. 'Useless! Useless! DO NOT WASTE BONES. The bones of fish, the bones of fowls, the large and small pi ces of bones which are purch sed with beefsteak and mutton, constitute the very best food for fruit trees and grape vines, if the fragments are only placed where the roots can lay hold of them. Instead of allowing pieces of bone to be cast into the back yard, as food for stray dogs and strange cats, domestics should be directed to deposit everything of the sort in a small tub provided with a lid. As soon as only a few pounds have accumulated, we take the tub to some grape vine or fruit tree, dig a hole three or more feet long, a foot or two wide, and not less than a foot deep, into which the bones are dumped, spread over the bottom of the excavation and covered with the soil. The more the fragments can be spread around the better. But they should be buried so deep that the plow or spade will not reach them. The roots of growing vines or fruit trees will soon find the valu ble mine of rich tertility, and will feed on the elements that will greatly promote the growth of strong and healthy wood, and the development of fair and luscious fruit.

Many horticulturalists and farmers purchase bonedust, costing not less than two sent for 3,000 more families. * * * cents per pound, simply to enrich the soil around and beneath their trees and vines. Fragments of bones are just as valuable as ground bone, although their elements of fertility will not be found available in so short a time as if the large pieces were reduced to small atoms. Nevertheless, if large bones be buried three or four feet from a grape vine, the countless numbers of mouths at the ends of roots will soon dissolve, take up, and appropriate every particle When cast out of the kitchen door, bones are like a nulsance; whereas if properly buried, they become a source of valuable fertility. Let every person who owns a grape vine or fruit tree save all the bones that pass through the kitchen, and bury them where such worthless material will be turned to some profit.-American Garden.

MR. H. A. P. CARTER IN BOSTON.

THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.

In conversation recently regarding the relations between the United States and the Sandwich Islands, Mr. H. A. P. Carter, agent of the Hawaiian Government, who on his way home from France and Portugal, where he has been on diplomatic business concerning his Government, made the statement that they are on a most admirable basis, the result of a treaty between the countries made by Mr. Allen and himself some six or seven years ago. As far back as Mr. Seward's time, said Mr. Carter, the importance of the neutrality of the Sandwich | COLD AND SILVER SETTS. Islands toward all other nations was recognized by the statesmen of this country, who saw that should any power obtain supremacy there that power would have a station of immense utility should it desire to attack the Pacific Coast of the United States. Mr. Seward and others tried vainly to prepare a treaty which Congress would ratify. At last, however, the Government of this country recognized the necessity, and it announced its determi ation to maintain that desired neutrality at any cost, by force of arms if need be. The Hawaiian Government, well » ware of its own weakness, had always desired to be on friendly terms with all its neighbors, and had looked with especial favor on its nearest neighbor the United States. The treaty, then, was finally drawn up and ratified. Under it the most important clause declares that no power shall be given any preferment, politic I or otherwise, within the bounds of Hawaiian territory. The provisions next in importance provide for the admission, free of duty, into the Sandwich Islands, of a long list of rticles from the vernment admits from the Sandwich Islands, without tax, sugar, rice, and a few fruits and other natural products. The result is that the annual interchange of products between the two countries amounts to about $7 000-000 each way, while the capital invested in the Islands has increased from $7,000,000 be* fore the treaty to about $30,000,000 at present. To be sure some twenty odd millions of this is American capital, but the country has the benefit of it. As I said before; the Hawaiian Government knows its own we kness, and knows, too th t to sustain itself it must have the most f vorable commercial relations with other nations. Those relations with the United St tes are most favor ble and we have no disposition to make any change, nor do I think that the American Congress, which, by the way, is not so bad a body as it often is said to be, would abrogate a treaty so advantageous and so important to the interests of its own Government for any such reason as that given above. The provisions of the treaty, favorable as they are to the Untited States, naturally are more or less distasteful to some of the other powers. Great satisfy the taste. It will be readily seen that this method would not result in any substantial increase of the population. They continued to come for two or three years, and then the immigration suddenly ceased by order of the Chinese Government. It was always supposed that that Government would be very glad of the power in the country which the presence of a large num ber of its subjects would give it, and we could not understand its voluntary order of prohibition I have suspected, however, that Mr Blaine whispered something in its ear, and I know that a public dispatch of his declared that the United States would never allow the Sandwich Islands to become Asiaticized, to use his own word. After that the British Government wanted to send us immigr ats from the East Indies, but as, while here, they would have to be under the control of their own Government, we could not consent to that under the existing treaty We are now having a large me sure of success with Portuguese immigrants.
